

Developing Economic Relation

In spite of the unfavorable economic environment and full of adversities which is due to the political situation in the world specially Middle East and Iran, Iranian and Britain businessmen travel back and forth between 2 countries that it offers active and profitable prospects of our countries economic relations. It is said that the British ambassador in Tehran, in every meeting and conference decisively says:

I am optimistic and in reply to this question “what is your reason for being optimistic” explains: just look around yourself, everything indicates that although there are unfavorable political- economic conditions in the today world but commercial statistics of both countries give hopeful development particularly that for the first time during the last 3 decades, development of Iran’s export to Britain compared with Iran’s Import from Britain have been remarkable. Achievement and continuity of this development depends on the commercial information cooperation and activity of joint Chambers of two Countries in London and Tehran. The more cooperation and communication of two Chambers by making more relations between businessmen and capital owners who intend to invest and trade in both countries, dispatching commercial and investing mission, visiting fairs of two countries to supply required goods and services of 2 countries and Middle East.

However there is no doubt, Iran with his geographic situation in the center of an area, that has more than 350 million population, and with all potential and actively possibilities for producing required goods and services of middle east and countries that have old economic relations with Britain, including Asian and African countries, can provide manufacturing and consuming needs of middle east and a large part of the word. A fact that is not hidden from the Britain economic policymakers at all. As economic potential, technical knowledge and finances of Britain is not hidden from our capital owners and businessmen.

Editorial